Policy:

- I. It is the practice of the College not to allow the children or young family members of students into the academic areas such as classrooms, laboratories or other educational settings. If students have young children on campus in recreational, dining or other spaces, they must be under the direct supervision of the student at all times. Nothing in this policy precludes the presence of children in the classroom when authorized by the faculty member as a part of the academic program.
- II. Students are not permitted to invite another individual into the classroom, laboratory or other educational setting without the advance permission of the instructor. Students who are accompanied by aides due to disabilities will be granted permission for the length of the course as determined appropriate by Disability and Access Resources.
