Number: P 4.36

Approved by: Presidential Action
Approved Date: 04/1983
Last Review Date: 11/2021
Last Revision Date: 11/2021

Persons/Departments Affected:
Registrar’s Office, Academic School Offices, Financial Aid, Counseling Services, Admissions Office

Responsible Department:
Admissions Office

Definitions:
Incoming Student – Any undergraduate student who meets the NEW, TRANSFER, or REENROLL classification definitions.

Current Student – Any undergraduate student who does not meet the NEW, TRANSFER or REENROLL classification definitions, including Penn College students who graduate and immediately matriculate into another major the following semester, with no break in enrollment.

Policy:

I. An incoming student may request to change his or her major through the Admissions Office until the first day of the incoming semester of enrollment. The student must satisfy any specified eligibility requirements of the new major. Beginning with the first day of the incoming semester of enrollment, an incoming student follows the same process as a current student outlined below.

II. A current student initiates a change of major by requesting a Curriculum Change Profile from the Registrar’s Office and then obtains required signatures as explained in Procedure 4.36.

A. If the form is completed and returned to the Admissions Office prior to the end of the second week of classes, the change will be effective for that semester. If not, the change will be effective for the following semester.

B. Only Penn College courses required in the new major will be used in calculating the graduation grade-point average for that major moving forward. This GPA will not appear on the student’s transcript until one semester has been completed in the new major.
III. If applicable, Placement Test results, prior Penn College courses, and/or prior external college courses will be reevaluated to determine the courses needed to satisfy graduation requirements for the new major.
