Penn College Paramedic Program Enters Clinical Agreement with Penn State EMS

Due to a new clinical agreement between Penn College and the Penn State EMS department, paramedic students are being paired with EMS supervisors at every Penn State home football game. Penn State EMS is charged with responding to any medical or traumatic emergency that may occur both within and around Beaver Stadium, the second largest in the country. This relationship with Penn State EMS allows our students to experience first-hand the immense preparation and coordination that is involved in mass gatherings.
